Mr. Cowax said he had also received letters from Philadelphia and Pittsburg favoring the bridge; but they were mostly from railroad men. He caused a letter to be read from the President of the Pittsburg Foard of Trade, saying that he was opposed to obstructing this great highway, though he was in favor of a bridge; but he wanted it built so as not to interfere with trade on the Chioriver. But this bill did not only permit the construction of a bridge at Steubenville, but gave corrorate us the right to build bridges anywhere in the Oblo—at Cairc or Cincinnati, for instance.

After a lengthy discussion, the bill was re-committed to the Committee on Past Offices.

Mr. Powelle, (opp.) of Ky., offered a resolution that the Secretary of War be directed to transmit to the Senate immediately so much of the report of Hon. Joseph Holt, and Hobert Pale Owen, on the subject of ordnance, as related to the gun contract of Shubarth. Passed.

"The first act of the deceased in reference to the pre gent troubles of which we have any record is the attack made by him upon General McClellan as to his conduct of the war. He caused a pamphlet to be printed ing that skilful officer, and a copy was laid on each of the deeks of the members of both houses of Congress. What effect the pamphlet may have had is not ly known; but shortly after a direct attack was made upon General McClellan by the radical party, his he was forced almost prematurely to take the field even

The next news we hear of Colonel Ellet is his engage tenis upon the Mississippi river, at the head of the ram set. To explain the randox of a colonel, or military flicer, commanding a fleet, or portion of the navy, it is necessary to enter somewhat upon the origin of the floet. When Colonel Ellet conceived the idea of a ram floet on the Mississippi river, he went to the Navy Department to ob'ain the permission to organize and command the dition. He, however, met with a decided refusal, or such indifferent success as to warrant him to apply elsewhere. He therefore went to Secretary Stanton, and was ordered at once to organize the fleet, under the War has no authority to commission naval officers, the chief commander had to be made a colonel; his son, the second in command, a lieutenant celonel, and the officers with ranks to accord with these. The boats were not manned with seamen, but with soldiers, and the feet fore became a floating artillery corps. All reports are made directly to the War Department.

The operations of this ram floot have been marked with success. After the evacuation of Forts Pillow, Wright and Randolph, the Union fleet proceeded to Memphis, where they arrived on the evening of the 5th.

Approaching Memphis, the gunboats were in advance. I had received no netice that a fight was expected, but was informed, on lending within eight miles of Memphis, that the enemy's gunboats had retreated down the river. My first infe mation of the presence of the enomy was a shot which leased over my boat. I had four of my most powerful rams in the advance in any emergency. The others were towing the barges, on advancing to the attack I expected of course to be followed by the Memarch, the Lancaster and the Switze land. The Memarch, the Lancaster and the Switze land. The Memarch came in galiantly. Some of the efficiency of the Lancaster, which now hold the next place in the line, became excited and contract, but the engineers behaved well. The pilot errod in signals and ducked the best ashore and disabled her rudder. The captain of the Switzerland construed the general signal ducked the boat ashore and disabled her rudder. The captain of the Switzerland construed the gen rai signal order to keep half a mile in the rear of the Lancastor to mean that he was to keep half a mile behind her in the engagement, and therefore failed to participate. Had either the Lancaster or Switzerland followed as the Monarch did, the rebel gunboat Van Dorn would not have escaped, and my flagship would not have escaped, and my flagship would not have been disabled. Recognizing the constitutional reservation of the appointment of officers referred to, Congross, in the act of July 22, 1861, has provided that when vacancies occur in any of the companies of voluntee, s, the officers as high as captain shall be elected to fill them by the mean of such companies, and when vacancies in the regiments, and when vacancies in the regiments, occur, above the rank of captain, they shall be elled by the votes of the commissioned officers of such regiment, and all officers so elected shall be commissioned by the respective Governors of the States, or by the President of the United States. VIOLATING THE MILE LAW .- Twenty milk dealers were arrested yesterday by the Sixteenth precinct police for non-compliance with the new law in relation to the adulteration of milk. The prisoners, it appears, ne-glected to label and number their cans and carts in the nanner prescribed by act of the Legislature. Upon glected to label and number their cash and carts in time manner prescribed by act of the Legislature. Upon being brought before Justice Kelly, they confessed their error, but pleaded their ignorance of the exact requirements of the law as a excuse. The magistrate administered to them a sovere reprimand, and then read the law for their especial benefit. The defendants were then discharged on promising to comply with the provisions of the act. The section under which the provisions of the act. The section under which the arrests were made reads as follows:

Sec. 3. Any person or persons who shall engage in or early on the sale, exchange, or any traffic in milk, shall have the cans in which the milk is exposed for sale or exchange, and the carriage or vehicle from which the same is venied, conspicuously marked with his, her or their names, also indicating by said mark the locality from whence said milk is obtained or produced; and for every neglect of such marking, the person or persons so neglecting shall be subject to the penulities of the foregoing section of this act. But for every violatica of this act, by so marking said cans, carriage or vehicle, as to convey the idea that said milk is procured from a different locality, than it really is, the person or persons so offending shall be subject to a face of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the penitentary or county jail, or both, at the discretion of the court.

It is intended that the action of the police in the above cases will serve as a sufficient waying to all the dealers throughout the city.

Details of the Fight with the B. Batteries on White Hiver.

Curcauo, June 21, 1862. The following is a fuller account of the fight with the aber batteries on White river:--

The gunboat Conestogs has arrived with destatches entaining the particulars of the engagement at the rebel ortifications below St. Charles, eighty five miles from he mouth of the White river.
On the 17th the genboats St. Louis, Mound City, Lex ington and Conestogs, and the transport New National, having on board the Forty-sixth Indiana regiment, Col Fitch, which left here a week ago to open communication with the army of Gen. Curtis and remove the obstrutions from White river, asc nded that stream.

In the bend of the city, near St. Charles, two co inmediately cleared for action, and as soon as the range opened her guns upon them. Captain Kilty meantime signalized to Colonel Fitch to land his force below the fort, which was successfully accomplished.

The Lexington and St. Louis shelled the works, und cover of which Colonel Fitch gained the rear of the rebel position. At this juncture, a ball from a siege gun on the bluff struck the forward and port side of the Mo City, penetrating the casemates, and passing through the steam drum of the vessel, which immediately became filled with the escaping vapor.

Nearly every one on board the Mound City was scald ed. Only twenty-three of the officers and crew escaped out of one hundred and seventy-five escaped.

ANOTHER REEK, INVENTION—A BULLEY LOADED WITH SCIPHUR.—Mr. Julian Allon, purser of the steamship Paltie, yesterday furnished us with a specimen of one Paltic, yesterday furnished us with a specimen of one of the latest rebel inventions in the jine of infernal machines. It is in the shape of an ordinary conical leaden bullet, loaded with suiphur, and arranged in such a manner as to scatter the sulphur in all directions when projected from a musket or rifle. Mr. Allen found several of these infernal contrivances in the pockets of a dead robel, killed at the bombardment of Fort Jackson. As first they were supposed to be ordinary bullets; but Mr. Allen, being suspicious, made a deep hack in one of them with a knife, when the sulphur immediately squirted out, and exposed the contrivance. It is dangerous almost to handle one of these articles, unless one is exceedingly careful and gingerly in his fingering.

HEROISE OF A BOY ON BOARD THE GALENA.—The following very interesting incident is related in connection with the late attack by the United States gunboat Galen upon Fort l'arling:-A youth, about thirteen years old upon Fort l'arling:—A youth, about thirteen years old, who was in the service of Lieut. Nauman, as a mossengen boy, seeing one of the powder boys wounded, immediately volunteered to take his place. The services of the young volunteer were accepted, and he so to work with a spirit to fill his new position, rendering great a sistance to the officers and crew. The poor little fellow's carees of giory was destined to be short lived.
Only a few hours later, while engaged in earrying a quantity of powder, a shell came tearing along, burst right over the boy and killed him in an instant. The poor little fellow's sufferings were soon over; but the sight was too much for many of the rough jack tax, down whose b enged cheeks the big tears rolled in abundance. The boy's name was James Webor.
